The ship Williamson arriveing neer this road the 11^th: Instant which by reason of Contrary Winds could not quite come in, Vincent Sayon and James Wheeler were forced to bee rowed ashoare the next day in the ships boate where after many howres wee arrived at Metchlep^a: dilivereing the Gennerall packetts and in persuance of the Agent's and Councells orders.

The Merchants were this day sent for and discoursed about the increaseing of the severall quantityes of cloth allready contracted for and an additionall provision of 2000: ℔s of Dymithies and 2000: ℔s of Dyapers [ . . . ] all which they resolved that for the quantity [ . . . ] they will use their endeavours but not oblidge themselves noe otherwaise then by promise and for the Dymithies and Diapers they will bring Musters to bee veiwed by the Councell.

M^r: John Field did this day diliver up [the ballance] of the Hono^ble: Companys Cash being pago^ds: 12592: 31: 0: to [M^r:] Vincent Sayon with the other Bookes and papers belonging to this ffactory. The Agent and Councell have enordered that wee increase the Investment this yeare to as much as wee could possible after some discou[rse] the Merchants agreed this day for the provision for [the] following goods more then allready Cont[racted] for Viz^t:

Sallampores... ... 7600 ℔s: Izzarees . . . 1000: Du [ . . . ] browne
Percollaes of 15 cov^ds. 2800 ℔s: Oringall Beetelaes 1000: G [ . . . ]
Booke [Percollaes] 2000 ℔s: Allejaes . . . 3500: [ . . . ]

The Governour of this place Mamud Alley Beeg sent his Maldar to the Cheif o congratulate his arrivall here with great promises of ffriendship in the Hono^ble: [Comp^as:] affairès and further desireing to provide him some Cheeses and strong waters which hee profferrd to pay for, but considering his expectations may bee much larger of a piscash It was therefore resolved That 6: Cheeses 2: Cases strong waters 2: 6: Gallon Casces of Brandy and a Chest of rosewater bee sent him as a

——METCHLEPATAM, SEPTEMBER 1682.——

[11TH] it their duty to procure their Hono^ble: Masters goods as cheap as possible, demanded an abatement of 4: ℔ Cent to bee made thereon, the Merchants Replyed that on the 31^st: last Month, M^r: Sayon and the Councell had brought them as lowe as possible they could make them for, viz^t: at pago^ds: 30: & 28½: ℔ Corge ready whited and cured without any abatement, and that under that they could nor would not Contract, whereon the Councell useing Severall perswasive Arguments with them at last gott them to withdrawe, to cast up the Cost and Charges thereon and to see if possible they could somewhat complye: after a long debate amongst them they returned that they would abate 1: ℔ Cent and noe more could they possibly bee bro^t: to whereon the Councell Contracted then with them for 3000 ℔s viz^t: N°: 1: at 30: pago^ds: ℔ Corge and N°: 2: at 28½: to bee bro^t: in ready white and cured at 1: ℔ Cent abatement which with much difficulty in many houres was obtayned, the Merch^ts: alleidgeing that 1: ℔ Cent would bee a constant abatement for severall yeares, in some of which the Hono^ble: Comp^a: might require treble the quantity which in the end would bee considerable.

The Merchants then demanded the payment of their ⅔ according to Contract, at which the Councell replyed they should soe soone as wee had Contracted for the dyapers required by the Hono^ble: Company; to which they answered they could not possibly provide them haveing undertaken this yeare so large an Investment as the like was never knowne before in this place, and that they must Severally bestir themselves to bring in what they had Contracted for which they promised to doe and y^t:[y°:] they should give a promise of those dyapers, they were certayne could not complye therewith the time being farr spent and the mony not given them in time for provideing soe Considerable an Investment which amounts unto pago^ds: 129015: Contracted for on the 1^st: Muster of each sort as ℔ agreement made with the Merchants the 2^d: of Aprill 1679: all abatements being de[ducted] besides the Carpetts for which 700: pago^ds: is givin out whereon the Councell ordered them the paym^ts of pago^ds: 5010 which fully Compleats the payment of their ⅔:

MUNDAY YE; 25TH: The Merchants were at large discoursed and [ . . . ] perswasive Argume[nts] urged to take of [ . . . ] goods [ . . . ] Cloth, [Copper,] Lead, and Quick [silver . . . ] profferred to have dilivered them presently, and its amount to bee deducted out of the last payment for this yeares Investment, but the Merchants were mightily averse to it, and would by noe meanes bee drawne from their Contract In March 1679 alleidgeing that it was then agreed on their abateing 8 ℘Cent, they were to bee paid all in mony & were not obliged nor would not take goods, wch: they say they never did, nor ever was Imposed on them, and were discontented the Councell should urge them soe much to it, whereon wee accquainted them the quantity of Europe goods Madrass Merchants had taken off yearely, that Madapollam Merchts: had now promised the same, and therefore they ought not to bee examined, when such Considerable quantityes of Cloth was bought of them.

After the Merchants were departed the Dubash was discoursed Concerning his promise to the Right Worspll: the Agent and Councell; at the ffort, and their ordr: to us in their Letter of the 7th: Currant to procure what Dutch Cloth possible, to which hee replyed that the Dutch were now getting in all Cloth procurable to Lade on a great Dutch shipp in the road bound for Batavia the [29] Currant, that after that shipp was dispatched hee would use his uttmost to procure what possible and had a faire prospect of then procuring a Considerable parcell of their ordinary long cloth and Sallampores which although they are sortes not expressly nominated to bee provided in this ffactory, yett wee presume if can procure them on reasonable termes may doe our Honoble: Masters good Service, and not derogate from the Agent and Councells orders in their Letters of the 3d: August and 7th: September.

The Merchants this day brought their Saile Cloth for Sorting w^ch; proving Considerably worse then that of Last years, the Councell enquired of them the reason why they brought it in so bad, and Contrary to their Contract of Muster, their answere is that last year was but a small quantety provided, and then only by this ffactory, now Madapollam and Pettepollee provides the same and but one p̃^t: of this Country affords that sort of Cloth Soe that they are forced to take such as [they] Cau gett the weavers not valuing their Contracts [but] if they dislike it, one of the other 2 ffactoryes [are] ready to receive [ it ] they doe affirme that they pay [ . . ] price for it now then Last year, not w^th; Standing their reason alleaged the Councell thought fitt to demand of them an abatement proportionable to the difference that y^e: Hono^ble: Comp^a; may not bee too great sufferers, but they refused to abate any thing therefore tis order'd that said cloth be laid by in a Goedowne and not Sorted till advice thereof be given to the Right Worsp^ll: Agent and Councell and an answere Returned how wee shall dispose of it.

The Agent and Councells letter of the 20th: ffebruary was read and severall ꝑticulars debated thereupon. And first it was resolved and thought requisite that the Sub Governour be waited on and ꝑingaged before the arrivall of any interloper, and that a present be made him to the amount of 25 pa: in case he will promise to assist us against them and give us assureance of his endeavours to frusterate and defeat their traffique at this port.

It was likewise ordered that the Merchants be discourst concerning the Investment for the ensueing year to bee compleated and finished in the month of June & Decembr:

Ordered that the severall clauses remitted us of the Honoble: Compas: letters to the Agent and Councell be communicated to the adjacent ffactoryes.

The goods and treasure for this and [the neigh] bouring factoryes by the freinds endeavour was ordered [to be] landed and good care taken in the disimbarquing the Same Likewise agreed to discourse the Merchants about the [. . .] out cloth wch: is to a great amount and that a very res[pec]tive sortment be lookt over and wt: propper and sutable for the Europe marketts be accepted of and ꝑ swasive argumts: used to induce the Merchants to part wth: it at a proporc̃onable: abatemt:

Golcundah Beetelaes better then our Musters being offered in barter for Europe Comodities at the usuall rates for each it was held convenient to accept of the same and ordered that Lead and broadcloth be deliverd to the value of the quantity brought in.

By reason of the large investment enordered this year and that part thereof to be compleated by the month of June or July and the dayly expectac̃ons wee have of Interlopers, it is held absolutely necessary to continue the full nomber of Peons and servants in pay, for the better carrying on of the former and disappointing of the latter.

The Merchants in conformity to their promise this day appeared before the Councell, and their answear concerning the investment being demanded they were very shie in contracting for an Investment in soe short a time, but being smartly discoursed thereabout and acquainted that the Comp^as: occasions absolutely required it and that according to the Contract made w^th: Agent Master bearing date March the 31: 1679: they had obliged themselves to provide all such goods as the Comp^a: from time to time should require, and that if they declined what now ordered others that would undertake the same, must be imployed for that the Comp^a: must not be disapointed, and the Councell wished them well to Consider before they relinguished the Hono^ble: Comp^as: imploy w^ch: at first they seemed very indiferent whether they were continued or noe but after much discourse they were at length prevailed w^th: to Contract for the following sortm^ts: of goods viz^t:

——METCHLEPATAM, JULY 1683.——

[1ST:] [T]his day the Chief went to visitt the Governour and to treat wth: him about turning away the Interloper now in the roade.

Skipper Thomas Sloope sailed for Arrakan.

2ND: Yesterday the Chief haveing been to visit the Governour thinks fitt to sett downe what past betwixt them in relation to defeate ye: Interlopr: now in the roade, after a tedious discourse and arguing wth: the Governour some hours about the ill consiquence that would acrew to the Honoble: Compas: affaires, should he allow them any trade wth: in his Government, and allsoe a very great loss to him selfe and many familyes under him that have dependance upon our Honoble: Masters Employ, for that wee were strictly ordered ( if he would not upon reasonable proposalls turne them away & allow them noe manner of trade) to remove all from this ffactory wth: a resolution never to returne to it againe, wch: he seemed to take little notice of or give creditt to, pretending that this Country was free for all people to trade in provided they paid the King Custome, and that Capt: Aubonee had offered the Same beside a very considerable present to himselfe, and allsoe acquainted him that severall other shipps were comeing out wth: a very Considerable Stocks to invest in this place if he gave encouragement, wch: would bring an income to the divan above 10000 pa: ℔ annum, an Accot: of wch: would soone be carried to the King and his Master the Cirkell, therefore he could not gratifie our request wth: out endangering the loss of his head or his Employment at least, but promised to represent the business up to Court, as wee related it, and did not question Success therein answereable to our desires provided wee would be gratefull to him, as soe singular a peece of service might deserve, and that in the meane while, neither Capt: Aubonee, or any other Interloper that might import, should have the liberty to make any Investment, or buy one ℔s: of Cloth, To wch: was required of him what Summe he expected, he refused makeing any demand, but would leave it wholly to ourselves to consider thereof, for as he had been allwayes a true freind, and assisting to the Honoble: Compas: affaires in these parts, soe he resolved to Continue his best endeavours to satisfie us in all our reasonable demands soe far as lay wth: in his power, upon this assureance of his Robert ffreeman offerd him 500 pa: wch: he [highly rejected] and wondered wee should put Soe low a valuation upon Soe great a peece of service as wee [ . . . ] him [ . . . ] was not all wee intended to give him, but only for a present encouragment that he would be hearty and [real] to us, and that if wee found him soe in all respects by puting [ . . . ] the Interlopers from hence, and allowing them noe trade [wth: . . . ] Government he need not question of an equall gratuity: but [that] would not tempt him to a promise, his demands were very high 5000 pa: for his master ye: Cirkell, besides something considerable for himSelfe, wch: wee thought unreasonable, and after laying downe to him the great advantages the Honoble: Compas: trade has been for many years and is still like to bring into this Government wch: will certainely be lost if he gives any encouragement to Interlopers, wee desired him well to Consider thereof, and be more moderate in his demands and after a great deale more discourse, and all ℔swasive arguments used wth: him he fell to 2000 pagods: and would not heare of any thing less: but flew out into passion when any thing less was mentioned to him, and that if wee did not immediately consent to give him that Summe, he would not take soe little tomorrow, To wch: Robert ffreeman endeavoured to oppose his anger wth: good words and desired a day or two to Consider, and acquaint the rest of the Councell thereof, wch: wth: some reluctancy he consented to, and after a treatment of a supper dismist him.

The Agent and Councell haveing in their Genneralls of the 3ᵈ: & 7ᵗʰ: Currant ordered the procury of what goods wee could prevaile wᵗʰ: our Merchants to furnish us wᵗʰ: upon Creditt the Councell thought it necessary to treat wᵗʰ: them about yᵉ: Oringall Beetelaes they refuseing to bring in any more goods then they had received money for if wee turned out soe large a quantity upon their hands wherefore they were discoursed Concerning the allowance they would make for their being inferiour to Muster, but upon treating wᵗʰ: them, the Councell mett wᵗʰ: more difficulty in this affare then usuall, the Merchants obstinately refuseing to make any allowance, alleading [sic] they should be great sufferers by this years Invest̄ment for that they had agreeable to Contract provided to the amoᵗ: of 150000 pᵃ: in goods but ℔ceived by our sorting wee had not occasion for half yᵉ: quantity by our takeing in of each sortment only a small quantity of the Choicest and turning out the Major ℔ᵗ: of their goods upon their hands againe wᶜʰ: they affirmed to be as good this year as ever and Cost them more money. The Councell to satisfie them to the Contrary why soe great a quantity of each sortment was refused was because their goods came out much worse then heretofore, but if they would make a reasonable abatement wee would accept all their Oringall Beetelaes, but the Merchants gave the Councell great occasion of admiration, by refuseing this reasonable proposall and declareing that unless wee accepted them as they were at the price of the 3ᵈ: Muster and sufferd them to carry away all other their turned out Cloth they would not supply us wᵗʰ: a peice more but seeke another Markett for that they had furnisht us allready to the amount of what money they had received and that they ℔ceived wee had a designe to ruine them otherwise wee would not treat wᵗʰ: them soe much to their prejudice.

The Councell well Considering this reply of the Merchants and the advantage they might possibly make use of, by not being supplyed wᵗʰ: money according to Contract, and soe detaine their goods in expectation of Interlopers importing from the Bay and thereby the Honoᵇˡᵉ: Compᵃ: be disapointed, thought best to humoʳ:
